To Whom It May Concern:

Student: RATCHAPOL CHANNITI

The above student has completed all requirements and has earned the high school equivalency credential from the Office of the State Superintendent of Education in Washington, D.C. This individual is considered a high school, grade 12, level graduate per the attached cover letter and the attached secure electronic document.

The Superintendent's office in Washington, D.C. issues high school equivalency certificates for individuals who have passed all required GED® test subjects outside of the United States ("GED® Credential"). The GED® Credential is accepted by virtually all U.S. universities, employers, and is recognized across the world.

GED Testing Service® (a joint venture of Pearson and the American Council on Education) is the sole provider of the official GED test® and recommends that universities, ministries of education, employers, and other postsecondary educational institutions outside the U.S. recognize the GED® Credential as equivalent to a U.S. High School Diploma for entrance into universities and as a qualification for employment.

The GED® test version, which was first developed in 1942, is nationally recognized and measures an individual's performance in the subjects of mathematics, reading and writing, social studies, and science. It emphasizes critical thinking and problem-solving skills over rote memorization. More than 20 million students worldwide have earned their high school equivalency GED® Credential since 1942. In 2019, students in more than 90 countries earned the GED® Credential.

Electronic GED® Credentials

GED® credentials are securely issued electronically to eliminate document tampering, fraud, and enable processing and distribution of credentials. GED Testing Service® has partnered with Parchment to launch GED Credentialing®, an electronic credentialing service that easily and securely allows test-takers and institutions to request credentials. GED Credentialing® uses patented Blue-Ribbon technology certifying the validity and assurance of the issued document. Institutions and organizations do not separately need a credential verification from GED Testing Service® because the technology detects document tampering and confirms document authenticity. Paper credentials are available, if necessary, and contain multiple security features to prevent unauthorized duplication. To verify the authenticity of the transcript/credential, please see the instructions on the cover page.

How to Authenticate This Official Diploma

This official document has been transmitted electronically to the recipient, and is intended solely for use by that recipient. If you are not the intended recipient, please notify the GED Testing Service at <https://parchmentsupport.force.com/GED> or call us at 1-888-906-4031. It is not permissible to replicate this document or forward it to any person or organization other than the identified recipient. Release of this record or disclosure of its contents to any third party without written consent of the record owner is prohibited.

This official diploma has been digitally signed and therefore contains special characteristics. If this document has been issued by GED Testing Service, and this document is viewed using Adobe® Acrobat version 8.0 or greater, or Adobe® Reader version 8.1 or greater, it will reveal a digital diploma that has been applied to the diploma. This digital certificate will appear in a pop-up screen or status bar on the document, display a blue ribbon, and declare that the document was certified by the GED Testing Service with a valid diploma issued by GeoTrust CA for Adobe®. This document certification can be validated by clicking on the Signature Properties of the document.

The blue ribbon symbol is your assurance that the digital diploma is valid, the document is authentic, and the contents of the diploma have not been altered.

If the diploma does not display a valid certification and signature message, reject this diploma immediately. An invalid digital diploma display means either the digital signature is not authentic, or the document has been altered. The digital signature can also be revoked by the diploma office if there is cause, and digital signatures can expire. A document with an invalid digital signature display should be rejected.

Lastly, one other possible message, Author Unknown, can have two possible meanings: The diploma is a self-signed diploma or has been issued by an unknown or untrusted diploma authority and therefore has not been trusted, or the revocation check could not complete. If you receive this message make sure you are properly connected to the internet. If you have a connection and you still cannot validate the digital diploma on-line, reject this document.

The diploma key and guide to diploma evaluation is the last page of this document.

The current version of Adobe® Reader is free of charge, and available for immediate download at <http://www.adobe.com>.
